

As of today my websites are online

With a beating heart and daring now I let my "new birth" into the world.

If someone asks me today what I had done in my life differently, if I could start again from the beginning, then I reply: »In the next life, I would from the start focus on "my thing", and devote myself exclusively to what you can find on these websites, but for this life it was the exactly right and proper way.«

After my experience with previous me-led meditation courses at which I felt little resonance to my main point, the correct meditation of the Golden Flower, and the related topic Immortality, I have long thought about how I can create a better form, to hand over my ideals and my topic.

After an intensive worklife, the less and less agreeable with my understanding of meaningful Life, I desired to have more time for important issues and me, to focus more on my own interests, so I've early retired with a modest pension.

Since then I've focused to make an informative website. I believe that the time is ripe for my offer and I am happy when some of you may decide, to continue with me in this adventurous path.

With friendly greetings

Peter Todesco

Adventure Immortality - Travel to Beyond Space and Time

The journey to the other side of space and time, "Here and Now".
Absolute presence. Next stage, the awakening of a sense of "unity of all being".
Ego-renunciation, unconditional love, love of people and all creation.
The radical nature of awakening in a life committed to the truth.
The trip itself is the goal, the reward the achievement of the goal.
Transformation or death. Participation at your own risk.
Small chance of reaching the destination. Return unlikely.

Peter Todesco

Immensity

»To understand a boundless universe, boundless knowledge is necessary. A mortal man would have to be timeless and boundless to reach this knowledge, the prerequisite for this would be eternal life.«

Sébastien Rodel

The uncontrolled thinking

»The uncontrolled mind is the pain body, the addiction to unhappiness. Conscious breathing brings the thinking to stop. Old mind-information and associated emotions, the accumulation of old emotional pain, the control of the pain body over your mind dissolve. The internal goal of our life is to wake up. As simple as that is it. Through the present moment, you have access to the life force itself, with what traditionally is called "God". If you eliminate time, if you "here and now are," you dissolve your false self, your ego. Life is always now, there is only this moment, your existence is this all-embracing presence, instead of thoughts and emotions our presence becomes our true identity and pure energy. Only if you are orientating yourself at the present moment, you will gain access to this force. All truly successful action is due to this field of alert attention. Get out of your activities every time you dedicate to do them a tool of life. Handle with alacrity (in peace with what you do) with joy (in conjunction with the creative power itself) and with excitement (the creative energy of enthusiasm). The only actions that do not counter-reaction to challenge are those that serve the good of all. Instead connect to separate, they are supporting the development of the consciousness of all people.

Eckhart Tolle in "A New Earth"