

4th Newsletter dated 31/12/2010

Vertical time

Scientific masterminds of our culture, such as Stephen Hawking and Guerino Mazzola currently deal with the issue of "vertical time". This is the mathematical-philosophical attempt to formulate the presence of a non-physical time crossing the material timeline of past-present-future, to explain the phenomena of intuition (mathematical music theory) and the phenomena of energy (physics). The total presence of a musician (especially in jazz music the central element of musicality and improvisational ability) agrees completely with the Zen Buddhism required alertness, attention and presence in meditation. The required awareness-quality is not composed out of our daily lives resulting time-quality. It seems to me this term "vertical time" to have a deeper connection to the space-laws postulated by Peter Plichta (the prime number cross) and for me this neologism describes in a contemporary and scientific way spiritual quality of the highest level.

There are times spiritual issues changing the world, the philosopher Peter Sloterdijk used the word "internal space" in a book title (internal space of the capital) in 2005, a hitherto rather unusual name for material conditions. Rainer Maria Rilke says in a poem: "all beings permeates one world: the world inside ..." Novalis about the same theme: "in us or nowhere is eternity with its worlds ..." We all live at the same time in an outdoor space and an internal space. However, sometimes it takes decades until such fundamental thoughts prevail in all disciplines.

The term "vertical time" is as important and an intellectual topic of today with strong reference to the theories of space and great impact on our quality of life.

Book recommendation for 2011: "The School for Gods" by Stefano Elio D'Anna

After reading the first 70 pages if this book highly recommended by a friend, I like to pass her recommendation unfiltered:

"A must for everybody who wants to become immortal!"

Do we need for our future economic and political elites a "second education"?

An education for personal integrity, responsibility and inner freedom from superstition and ideologies?

The economist and sociologist Stefano Elio D'Anna describes in his educational novel The School for Gods, such as young people explore themselves and being able to move to a higher level. But he not only writes: With the European School of Economics Stefano D'Anna has not hesitated to implement his vision of a different education also. "I have dreamed of a new generation of leadership that is able to bring the age-old apparent opposites in harmony; ethics and economics, action and contemplation, financial power and love"

The Visible and the Invisible: The ESE (European School of Economics) was first created in the self of the protagonist and author, ie, in the invisible inner world, as a vision, a dream. Visibilia ex invisibilibus - the visible comes from the invisible, which is a core concept in the teachings of the dreamer, which he consistently proclaimed, and it became the motto of the ESE. "Everything that affect what we see and everything we perceive and all that we call 'reality' is nothing other than the projection of a world invisible to our physical world, a world of ideas and values, that runs perpendicular to the plane of our existence: the world of being."

Here the same idea of vertical and horizontal time line shows up in the form of different levels of being again.

Stefano Elio D'Anna in this autobiographical novel consistently represents the philosophy of immortality.

Have fun and new insights reading in 2011

Peter Todesco

links to the recommended book:

<http://www.eselondon.ac.uk/about-ese/>

http://www.theschoolforgods.com/en/content/background\_story/

4th Newsletter dated 31/12/2010

Time travel

The tradition of the Hopi Indians declared the impossible time travel by their spirit guides (Kachinas), with non-linear time lines and speaks of subtle spaceships faster than light which would have made the journeys from galaxies to galaxies possible.

In search of Stephen Hawking and his theories about the vertical time, I have found following text that embeds the same issue in terms of 'linear' and 'analog' time concepts:

I would like to add my time travel hypothesis:

Time is a function of consciousness.

Under a consciousness level of 500 (on the scale according to Hawkins) human consciousness interprets time as a linear causal sequence of events. Only about 500 he is able to perceive simultaneity and everlasting creation.

If we assume that the today living people with a level of 400 in a thousand years have become aware of a standard so that a larger number are people with assumed BW 570 and therefore are able to enter the (analog) line of simultaneity and at any point of the "past" to get out there again to adapt to the current awareness and also to behave "linear".

In a thousand years, the drive for space travel technology is developed. The aura (or the field of consciousness) of the time travelers to the (presumed) 570 BW is so large that the aircraft is included with and join in the journey. If the time travelers reduce their awareness to below 500, then the aircraft enters back into the linear-causal world phenomenon, and is visible and moving.

The often-described and feared paradox does not occur, since everything exists in simultaneity and a change in the "past" automatically accompanied from a change in the "future".

Thus, a UFO was actually a time travel phenomenon of a higher consciousness.

Signed: "Lutz"

Does not believe in any tradition, just because they have owned for a long time in many countries.

Does not believe in something, just because many repeat it continuously.

Accept anything, just because someone else said it, because it is based on the authority of a sage or because it is written in a sacred scripture.

Believe nothing, just because it probably is.

Does not believe in fantasies and visions that you think it's God-given.

Believe nothing just because the authority of a priest or teacher behind it.

Only believe what you have learned through your own long test to be accurate, as reflected by your own welfare and that of others.

(Gautamo Buddha)

link: <http://88317.homepagemodules.de/t34f18-Zeitreisen.html>

---

If you found this information "by chance", please contact me for a free preliminary, a personal encounter, an exchange of views, or an informative meeting.

With friendly greetings

Peter Todesco